BRAINERD-WALKER TOUR

Brainerd's automobile touring party left the city in the early morning hours for Walker to attend the opening of the Northern Minnesota Development association meeting, thirty cars in line and the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce drum corps rolling out a fraternal greeting.

It was such a tremendous roar that the reverberation awoke the guests at the Ransford hotel and there was no need for the clerk to call any one at 6 or 7.

The Brainerd party was headed by John F. Woodhead, tour master. L. W. Sherlund was the official starter. Each car bore its number and the whole tour served to advertise Brainerd from end to end of the route.

The weather was ideal and the sun shone. Pine River was made according to schedule at 9:30 and Walker at 11:30.

Walker is gaily decorated and gave them a glad welcome. Bemidji and its band has arrived. Cass Lake is well represented. The State Potato Growers' are represented. Grand Rapids is boosting for the fall meeting which will be held there November 21 and 22.

Officers of the association assert a thousand visitors have arrived.

Governor J. A. A. Burnquist and party arrived in the afternoon. In his party was another speaker, State Auditor J. A. O. Preus who speaks on Saturday evening.

The convention was called to order at the court house, the address of welcome being given by Mayor F. L. Wilcox. The address by R. R. Wise, president of the Northern Minnesota Development association, followed.

At 1:30 this afternoon there were the exercises by the home guards of Park Rapids, Cass Lake and other places, comprising the 14th Battalion, Major D. B. Lynch of Park Rapids commanding.

Senator J. H. Baldwin of Frazee spoke on "Northern Minnesota Highways," and the many present making the tour by automobile, were well able to pass on highways and any that needed betterment.

D. E. Willard, development agent of the Northern Pacific railway of St. Paul, spoke on "Sheep Raising in Northern Minnesota."

At 7 o'clock in the evening the bait casting contest will be held at the village docks. Fishermen are present from the Twin Cities, Duluth, Wadena, Winona, Brainerd and other points and it is expected to equal the 197 foot record. Prizes aggregate $50 in value. The entrance fees go to the Red Cross.

Governor J. A. A. Burnquist gives a loyalty address. A dance at the opera house and smoker at the auto club rooms completes the first day's offering.

Land clearing demonstrations will be given Saturday under the direction of Otto L. Bergh, chairman of the agricultural committee.

At 11 A. M. there will be an excursion on Leech lake by the Steamer Northland and launches, fish dinner and music by the band.

Addresses during the lake trip will be:

"Relations Between Twin Cities and Northern Minnesota," by E. M. McMahon, St. Paul Association.

"Hit the Trail for Northern Minnesota," by E. T. Winship, president of the State Automobile Association.

"Ten Thousand Lakes," by J. K. West of Detroit.

"Development," by Col. A. L. Crocker, president of the Minnesota Reclamation League.

At 7 in the evening there will be a bait casting contest at the village docks.

At 8 State Auditor J. A. O. Preus and Rev. G. P. Sheridan, Brainerd minister, deliver patriotic addresses at the opera house.

Casualty List

(By United Press)

Washington, June 7.—The casualty list contains forty-eight names.

MRS. PANKHURST.
Famous English Suffragist now visiting America.

An Atlantic Port, June 7.—Among the passengers arriving on a French liner which has just come to port under convoy of United States destroyers was Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the famous leader of the militant suffragists in England. Mrs. Pankhurst said she had come to America on a "surprise visit."

GREAT DARING SHOWN

American Troops Surprise Huns By Fighting Qualities.

Show Wonderful Spirit and Laugh and Joke While Perfect Hell Rages Around Them.

With American Army in France, June 7.—Great daring and fortitude was shown by many American officers and men in withstanding the German attacks along the Marne at Chateau Thierry and Jaugoune.

Capt. John R. Mendenhall of New Rochelle, N. Y., went without sleep for three days and remained steadily at the head of his company during that time.

Corporal Jules Mangold of McDonald, Pa., was sent out to investigate German snipers, under a heavy fire from the American line. He found the snipers, pointed them out to his comrades and the Germans fired no more.

The first American to receive the French war cross for bravery in the present battle was Lieut. Walter R. Flannery of Pittsburgh, who swam across the Marne and rescued a wounded French soldier.

Lieut. John T. Bissel of Pittsburgh has been cited for the French war cross for leading his machine gun command to the north of the Marne in an attempt to stop the German attack.

Capt. George Wakerline, French liaison officer with the American unit, stood by the Americans in the thick of the fight, encouraging and cheering them.

The Americans, he said, showed most wonderful fighting spirit and were jolly, even laughing and joking, while a perfect hell raged around them.

7 AMERICANS DIE IN ACTION

Two Northwest Men Among Wounded On West Front.

Washington, June 7.—The last army casualty list contained 34 names, divided as follows: Killed in action, 7. Died of wounds, 3. Died of accident, 3. Died of disease, 4. Wounded severely, 12. Wounded, degree undetermined, 1. Wounded slightly, 3. Missing in action, 1.

Among the severely wounded the names of Private Victor E. Bergfalk of Grove City, Minn., and Private Nell E. Callahan of Minot, N. D., are given.

BRITISH VESSEL SUNK

Steamer Harpathian Torpedoed Off Virginia Capes.

German Submarines Are Known to Have Destroyed Sixteen Ships Along Atlantic Coast.

Washington, June 7.—The navy department announces that the British steamer Harpathian has been sunk by a German submarine 160 miles off the Virginia Capes.

The entire crew was rescued by the steamer Palmer, which arrived in Chesapeake Bay.

Diver Uses Torpedo.

The submarine used a torpedo. One member of the British crew was injured.

The Harpathian was a steel screw steamer 350 feet long with a tonnage of 4,588. She was built at Sunderland in 1913 and is owned by J. and C. Harrison, Ltd.

Only meager details reached the department. The ship went down in seven or eight minutes and it is regarded as probable that, unlike other vessels attacked off the American coast, she was struck without warning. All British steamers plying through the war zone are armed but no mention of an armed guard was made in the navy reports.

U-Boat Thought Eldsvold Assailant.

The Harpathian is the sixteenth victim of the enemy under sea boats in the Atlantic coast raid. It was 40 miles off the Virginia Capes that the Norwegian steamship Eldsvold was sunk by shell fire. It is thought that the German commander may have hoped that in bagging one of these vessels he was landing a transport. In both cases he was mistaken.

DEMAND IS BEYOND OUTPUT

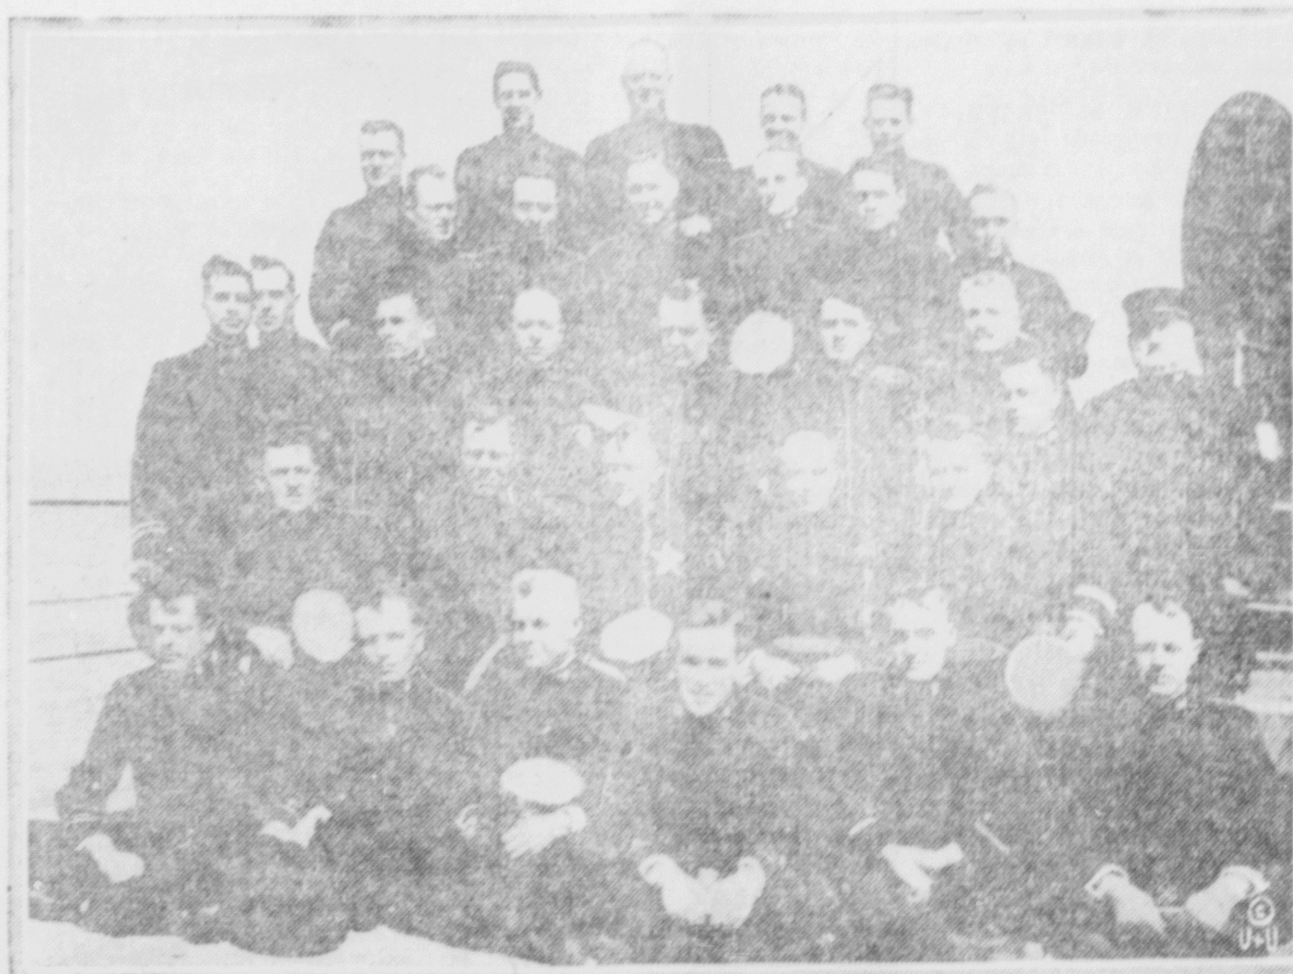

Mines Must Produce Much More Soft Coal Than Last Year.

Washington, June 7.—Demand for bituminous coal in this country during the year ending next April 1 will be 79,864,000 tons greater than the total consumed during the last coal year.

In making this announcement the Fuel administration said that to meet the demand mines would have to turn out more than millions of tons more than ever before in the country's history.

Total requirements for industrial, domestic, transportation and other uses are placed at 634,594,000 tons, an increase of 14.4 per cent over the production of 554,728,000 tons last year.

Officers of the President Lincoln When Sunk by Submarine

★ CAPT. P. FOOTE

This group of the officers of the President Lincoln, the former North German Lloyd liner, recently an American transport, which was sunk on her trip from France, was taken just before she left on her last trip. The names of all the officers have not been given out by the Committee on Public Information.

Lieut.-Commander Wallace Lindof Brainerd was an officer on this transport.

With the Americans in Marne, June 7.—The American marines after hurling back the Germans from one and three quarters to two and one-half miles on a five mile front northwest of Chateau Thierry renewed the attack this morning. The battle is increasing in intensity. After the most violent fighting all last night the Americans occupied Bussieres, Torcy, Borches, Neuilly wood, part of Beaulieu wood, and the railway station at Borches, the marines starting their advance by singing Yankee Doodle as they trotted across No Man's Land. In the brigade headquarters, the officers without sleeping five days and nights, sat at telephones. The officer in fighting line reported the Boches attacking. The major at headquarters sent back held on, hang on, we are coming to help you. Then the major nearly exhausted from losing sleep went to their assistance. The Americans finally attained their objectives.

Americans Holding All Ground Gained

BY FRED S. FERGUSON,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

With the Americans on the Marne, June 7.—The Americans who swept the Germans back two miles on a five mile front northwest of Chateau Thierry, are holding the gains despite terrible opposition, with the aid of French artillery. The American marines and machine gunners are consolidating all along the new front.

In the region of Lucy Lacogage, five miles west of Chateau Thierry, the American positions were badly harassed by German machine guns. An American patrol leaped from the lines, attacked the enemy positions, killed the entire crew and captured the gun.

Artillery Action in Lorraine

(By United Press)

With the Americans in Lorraine, June 7.—There is lively artillery action in this region, the American batteries effectively neutralized the German bombardment.

Fierce Fighting Still Progressing

(By United Press)

Paris, June 7.—An official statement says that fierce fighting is still progressing northwest of Chateau Thierry where the French and the Americans pushed the Germans back. The allies gained all along the front. The British have recaptured Bigny.

Germans Checked Everywhere on Front

(By United Press)

With the French on the Marne, June 7.—Fighting yesterday and today confirms that the Germans are checked everywhere, and the present attacks are merely local and without results. The allies are counter attacking securing the rectification of positions.

Austria on Verge of Revolution

(By United Press)

Berne, June 7.—Travelers say that Austria-Hungary is on the verge of a revolution similar to that which overthrew the Czar in Russia.

China Decides to Deport Germans

(By United Press)

Tokio, June 7.—China has decided upon the wholesale deportation of Germans to Australia.

War Department Denies Request

(By United Press)

St. Paul, June 7.—Information was received this afternoon that Governor Burnquist's plea to prevent the United States war department from dividing Minnesota troops, will be denied by the war department. It says the division is a military necessity. Gov. Burnquist was in Washington to prevent this division.

SCRAPS PAPER

GENERAL FAYOLLE.

Known in France as "Foch's" right hand man.

General Fayolle is in command of the French armies along the Oise. His exploit in stopping the German advance of April between Montdidier and Noyon saved Amiens and made him internationally famous. Fayolle has been known as "Foch's right hand man." He is one of the ablest French generals, and had been in command of the French army in Italy before the beginning of the March offensive.

Re-Examination of Exempted Men Ordered

(By United Press)

Washington, June 7.—The provost marshal general has ordered every local and district draft board to energetically re-examine men exempted or placed in a deferred classification to determine the reason for class one men. The action is taken on account of the scarcity of class one men in certain localities. The examination is largely directed against those claiming exemption on industrial rounds.

Federation of Labor Convention at St. Paul Next Week

(By United Press)

St. Paul, June 7.—Samuel Gompers, president, and Frank Morrison, secretary, of the American Federation of Labor, have arrived for the convention next week. Mr. Morrison said the labor unions are doing every thing to win the war, but are being tremendously hampered by the large employers of labor such as the president of the Western Union Telegraph Co., who refuses to abide by the agreement of the board regarding the recognition of the unions. The result may be the president commanding the telegraph lines, and congress taking action toward government ownership of telegraph companies. The union membership with in the year will exceed three millions.

It became publicly known today that Gov. Burnquist has not been asked to address the convention next week, on account of the differences between the governor and labor.

Frank Dunn Denied a New Trial

(By United Press)

St. Paul, June 7.—The supreme court has denied Frank Dunn, convicted uxoricide, a new trial.

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS,
(Staff Correspondent United Press)

With the British Affeld, June 7.—The German emperor and the freebooters about him continue to regard treaties as mere scraps of paper. Letters found on German prisoners reveal that there is every indication the Germans used the Archbishop of Cologne as a tool when the Archbishop wrote to the pope requesting the allies not to bombard German cities on Corpus Christi day. A Cologne resident wrote to a soldier now a prisoner here sardonically admitting there would be no Corpus Christi processions or Whit Sunday parades. The British kept their agreements, the Germans broke theirs, although the Germans asked it. Paris, as well as the villages and towns far out here were bombed as usual. Tiny villages, no way connected with military operations, are mercilessly strafed. I saw a group of huddled women and children and old people beside the road near a village. I asked why. They said the Germans always took advantage of a starlit night to bomb them, so they left their homes. No soldiers were around this hamlet. The Germans are determined to lay complete waste to the territory behind the lines the same as in Belgium.

Shipping Board Exceeds Expectations

Washington, June 7.—The emergency fleet corporation turned out one hundred and twenty-two tons more shipping during May than expected. They completed 39 steel and 32 wooden ships.

MANY YOUTHS ENLIST

About 250,000 Joined Colors Just Before Registration Day.

Provost Marshal General Thinks Registrants Will Produce Half a Million Men.

Washington, June 7.—About 250,000 young men, or approximately one out of every four who have become 21 years of age since June 5, 1918, voluntarily have enlisted before being required to do so under the law making them subject to the selective service regulations.

Registration Falls Short.

Wednesday's registration of the class of 1918 fell short of the estimate of Provost Marshal General Crowder, mainly as a result of enlistments in the army, navy and marine corps. This was the official explanation of a member of General Crowder's staff.

The enrollment of at least a million men was counted upon. Preliminary reports received at draft headquarters indicate that the registration will not exceed 750,000.

No Reports of Evasion.

No state headquarters had made a complete report, but a large number of local boards had wired in their returns. These figures were withheld pending complete reports.

Draft officials are still hopeful that from the number of new registrants between 400,000 and 500,000 fighting men will be produced. General Crowder's offices are positive there was a "full registration." No reports of evasion have come in.

WHOLE FOE COMPANY SLAIN

French Airmen Completely Annihilate German Unit.

With the French Armies on the Marne, June 7.—The Grenadier company of the second division of the Prussian guard was completely annihilated by a French aerial bombardment. It is definitely established. Other German losses established to date which are indicative of their losses in general, involve 28 reserve divisions. One regiment lost 30 per cent of its effectiveness while individual companies of other regiments were reduced to 70 and 80 men. The third company of the 98th regiment lost 54 men out of a total of 150.

Striking While the Iron's Hot

INDECISION has cost many a fortune.
A certain person—you may know him—admits that by maintaining a savings account and adding something to it out of every pay envelope, he will in time accumulate a fund which will bring one of life's prizes within his reach.

He admits it, makes up his mind to become a consistent money saver, and yet refuses to act. His ardor cools and he slides back into the groove in which he has traveled. Indecision has cost many a fortune.

The very time to start the saving habit is the time when it comes home to one that such action will open up a vista of new possibilities. Delays pay no dividends.

Money spent for trifles enriches others. It earns no interest for the spender. It takes the strength of decision to "hang on" to part of the income.

The kind of decision that underlies many a fortune is the kind that strikes while the iron's hot.

JOHN G. WOOLLEY FOR DRY CAUSE

One of the best presentations of the temperance cause given in Brainerd was by John G. Woolley. He spoke to a large audience at the opera house Thursday evening in the interest of the dry amendment. Commencing at a point 110 years past, he traced temperance history and recorded mistakes and success.

The prohibition party made a mistake by starting its crusade of conversion from Washington, D. C., to the people. The anti-saloon league commenced with the people of a community, then took up state work and then the nation at large.

"You can never make a convert to any cause by abusing a man," said Mr. Woolley. "And that is one thing temperance people of modern days have taken to heart and the cause has profited by it."

"You gain more people to your cause by smiles and coaxing," said he. "Carry the dry question into politics. Align yourself with the party in favor of temperance," said he. —BUY W. S. S.—

Giant Fans Cease to Pity Rest of World

BY H. C. HAMILTON,
(Staff Correspondent, United Press)

New York, June 7.—The recent cry of wolf in the baseball world, the same being a howl to the effect that the Giants would trample civilization in the baseball world under foot and make a dash for the pennant that would stand for no opposition, was an eastern howl. It did not come from the west—and the west's confidence in the rest of the National league was well placed, as can be seen by studying the effect of the western invasion on the monstrous average piled up by the Giants in the early part of the season.

If the east had been half as well equipped to withstand the murderous spurt of the Giants as early prognosticators hoped they would be, the cry never would have been raised. The trouble was that the west had been underestimated. Folks east of the Alleghenies refused to believe that the west had finally been raised to such strength that the famous and troublesome Giants would be forced to swallow pill after pill made of bitter, bitter defeat.

It was a fact last fall that the Cincinnati Reds were ready to challenge the Giants for the leadership in the National league, and it became a fact last winter that the Cubs were ready to bid for old-time favor. The Cardinals had some hard luck early in the season or they, too, would have been taking a few falls out of the Giants. Every one realized these things but the Giants and the Giant fans, who felt it their duty to shed tears of pity for the rest of the league.

Time was when some of the National league was wondering why the Giants were not forced to sell or trade some of their players in order to help out the rest of the league, which had been hard hit by the draft and enlistments. But the Giants' time to suffer came. The Giants have lost Jess Barnes and are quite likely to lose Benny Kauff at any time. Rube Benton may be lost.

Girl of 16 Drove One of Fordson Tractors Pulling two 14-Inch Plows

John F. Woodhead, president of the Woodhead Motor Co., has returned from Minneapolis where he attended the demonstration of the Fordson tractor.

Mr. Woodhead said that never before has anything caused the interest and enthusiasm that Mr. Ford's tractor caused in the Twin Cities when it was demonstrated actually doing farm work. Over 25,000 people turned out on Tuesday and at least as many more Wednesday.

A thirty acre field was laid out and guards had to keep the crowds back in order to allow the tractor to plow. A girl 16 years old drove one of the wonderful little machines pulling two fourteen inch plows, showing the wonderful opportunities afforded the farmer with a Fordson.

Lieut. Governor Frankson gave a very inspiring talk and complimented Henry Ford on his tractor and the liberal policy pursued in distributing them. A tent on the ground served as a salesroom and farmers stood in line to order.

Mr. Woodhead has a carload of seven on the way to Brainerd and they will be distributed over Crow Wing county as judiciously as possible.

Symbols of Religious Ideas.

There are many religious and semi-religious legends connected with the Chinese pagodas. It was said of the "Flower pagoda" of Kwangchow that, if ever its vane were to fall, evil would come upon the city. Upon two occasions the vane did fall, so it is related in Chinese annals, and evil times were sent as a punishment for the neglect of an irreligious people. Many of the names by which the pagodas were originally known were religious in character. Also, most of the towers were in the courtyards of the Buddhist monasteries, so that, however the occasional use might have been, the original idea of the Chinese builders was evidently entirely religious.

CHILDREN'S DAY
ON NEXT SUNDAY

Will be Observed at the Peoples Congregational Church Most Appropriately

REV. WM. L. CRIST PREACHES

Children's Program Takes Place at Evening Service, Program in Detail Given

Children's Day will be observed in the Peoples Congregational church next Sunday. At the morning hour of worship, Rev. Crist will preach from the subject, "What a Little Child Can Do." At this service there will be an opportunity given for the baptism of children or adults, and for any who desire to unite with the church.

It is requested that all plants given out by Rev. Crist at Easter be returned for inspection and also for decorative purposes. The program given by the children will take place at 8 o'clock in the evening as follows:

Prelude, organ, Miss Jessie Canniff.
Hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers," by congregation.
Invocation, by pastor.
Hymn, "America," congregation.
Responsive reading, school.
Song, "A Mighty Tower," choir.
Greetings from beginners, Christine and Gustaf Hanson.
"Welcome," Bessie Smith.
"Twice Welcome," Helen Templeton.
"Three Welcome," Elva Elvester.

An allegorical story, "The Garden of Loving Hearts," by Misses Ruth Templeton, Marion Templeton, Bessie Kaufman, Ethel Betts, Dolores Hall, Hilda Abrahamson, Ruth Wilson, Margaret Johnson, Grace Bahma, Grace Hively and Beatrice Stearns.
Song, "The Star Spangled Banner," congregation.
Benediction.

U. S. A. WANTS BABIES WEIGHTS

Department of Labor has Asked that Children, Infants to Five Year Olds, be Weighed

AT RESPECTIVE WARD SCHOOLS

Object of Government is to Get Accurate Data of all American Born Children

The Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor requests that all children from infants to five year olds be weighed and measured at their respective ward schools.

The objects of the government is to get accurate data of all American born children of these ages and it also requires children of underweight to be built up to normal weight in a year's time. Trained nurses will be in charge on this First Ward, at Lincoln school, Monday and Tuesday, June 17 and 18.

Second Ward, Whittier school, Monday and Tuesday, June 10 and 11.

Third Ward, Northeast Brainerd, Lowell school, Wednesday and Thursday, June 12 and 13.

Fourth Ward, Harrison school, Wednesday and Thursday, June 19 and 20.

Fifth Ward, Washington school, Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15.

"This is Child Welfare year and it is the purpose of the Children's Year Committee of which Mrs. R. A. Beise is chairman, to strengthen the work of the volunteer forces of the community," said Mrs. O. H. Johnson, chairman of the Brainerd Woman's and National Council of Defense.

Elmers-Krause

Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the Sacred Heart church occurred a very pretty wedding, when Miss Anne H. Krause of Little Falls, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Krause, became the bride of Wm. R. Elmers of Trommald, Minn., Rev. Fr. Altendorf performing the ceremony.

The bride was gowned in ivory satin and georgette crepe and wore a full tulle veil and carried an arm bouquet of white roses. Miss Rose Hennick of Duluth was bridesmaid. Her dress was of apple green silk voile. Joseph Krause, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, including cut glass and silver.

After the ceremony about 30 guests were served at a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents. The table was beautifully decorated with roses and carnations, the guests being served by Mrs. Benoit, the bride's sister, and Miss Eva Dow.

Mrs. Elmers is a graduate of the Little Falls business college and was employed at the Diamond Sign Jewellery store for a time. The last two years she has been stenographer for Edw. Syverson of Ironton, Minn., a prominent real estate man of that place.

Mr. Elmers is a graduate of the Winona business college, was assistant cashier of the First National bank of Deerwood, then he was cashier of the First National bank of Cuyuna, Minn., and is now cashier of the bank at Trommald, Minn., where they will make their future home.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Syverson and daughter of Ironton, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Benoit and daughter of Ironton, Minn.; Edw. Krause, Casleton, N. D.; Mr. and Mrs. Matt Krause and family, Sentinel Butte, N. D.; John J. Krause, Blue Bell, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmers left on the 2:30 train for a wedding trip to the home of Mr. Elmer's parents in South Dakota. They will be at home after Aug. 1, at Trommald, Minn. They have a large circle of friends, who all join in wishing them a very happy and prosperous life.—Little Falls Transcript.

Wild and Woolly Douglas.

An order to remain on the back of one of those wonderful creations of the devil, known as a bucking broncho, one must, among other things, possess the talents of a sailor, a bareback rider and a freight brakeman. At least such is the contention of Douglas Fairbanks, the athletic star of the screen. For many weeks the energetic Douglas has been learning the gentle art of the cowboy and has finally conquered it with arms and legs intact, as depicted in his new Artercraft picture, "Wild and Woolly."

Jersey, Gabardine, Serge, Cotton, Crash or Linen Materials.

Made With One Short and One Top Coat—Small, Close Reefed Hat Should Be Worn.

For traveling, especially on a long trip by motor, a suit like that in the sketch would be an admirable selection. It may be developed in any one of a number of fabrics, such as jersey cloth, gabardine, heavy serge and other procurable wool materials, and cotton khaki cloth, crash or linen. Khaki colored gabardine was chosen for the suit as designed. It is decidedly military in cut and finish. It is made with two coats, one the suit coat proper shown on the figure, the other a topcoat that is virtually full length, and in cut and finish an exact replica of the short suit coat.

The skirt, ankle length, buttons at the side front, and the sleeves, as will be noted, are finished with a row of buttons from wrist to elbow. A small close-reefed hat should be worn with a suit of this type, and of course the accompanying blouse should be plain and mannish. Washable satin and crepe de chine are excellent selections for a tailored blouse, as these materials launder well and easily, and of course do not rumple as quickly as linen or most of the cotton fabrics.

Suits have been tremendously popular this spring, the strictly tailored, plain models perhaps leading in sales. Eton jackets have had a variable career. They started off with a rush, slowed up a little, and then gained new momentum. It is interesting now to note that one of the style leaders of America, who is especially well known as a pace setter in tailored suits, announces that he will offer etons again in the fall and believes they will be more popular even than this spring. The eton suit unquestionably saves fabric. He thus bases his prediction of coming demand for the eton on the belief that fabrics will be scarce and higher in price next season. This particular American customer discredits a recent Paris prediction that long suit coats will be vigorously pushed to the front next season.

Full fashions at present are pretty much guess work and as a matter of fact fashion is so variable every season that it is pretty difficult to keep pace with it.

BOTH PARTIES ARE PLAYING POLITICS

EACH IS TRYING TO ELECT SENATORS AND TO GAIN CONTROL OF THE HOUSE.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE IMPORTANT

Vote on Proposed Amendment May Be Postponed After Extraordinarily Thorough Canvass of the Senate by Friends of Measure.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington.—Time after time the statement has been made that it is inopportune to play politics when the country is engaged in a great war. But it is found that both parties are playing politics all the time and are looking forward to securing political advantage at nearly every opportunity. Both parties are trying to elect as many senators as they can, and both are trying to secure control of the house of representatives.

Politics is being played in the matter of voting on the woman suffrage amendment pending in the senate. There are nine states where women vote, which elect senators this fall, and may be carried by either party. They are Idaho, Illinois, Colorado, Kansas, Montana, New Mexico, Nevada, Oregon and Wyoming. Idaho elects two senators. There are seven anti-suffrage states which might be carried by either party and which elect senators this fall. They are New Jersey, Maine, New Hampshire, West Virginia, Kentucky, Delaware and Rhode Island.

Of course this suffrage question in the matter of electing senators becomes a two-edged sword; it may cut both ways. There are political leaders in both parties who think that perhaps a postponement of the vote on the amendment until after the election will be the best political solution. However, the main reason for postponement is because the suffragists have some doubt as to whether they will have votes enough.

Perhaps there has never been such a careful canvass of the senate as that made by the advocates of woman suffrage. They have been able to tell within two or three votes the exact number they would have. They have been able to ascertain when a senator changes. No other organization would have been able to make such a canvass, for a large number of senators would have expressed their disinclination if not indignation about being asked how they would vote on any big fundamental question. But with the women they have been unable to use harsh language and with the exception of two or three senators all have been led to tell how they were going to vote.

The persistent canvass that has been made of senators, the efforts which have been made to get men, who have heretofore been against woman suffrage, on the side of suffrage, have been so great that no doubt there will be a sigh of relief around the senate when the matter is cut of congress altogether and before the various states.

Those who read the Record would not need any other evidence to tell them that the primary elections are fast approaching. There is a great clamor for "extension of remarks" in that overburdened publication, and many of the objectors who have been very active during this session of congress have become somewhat lenient of late, recognizing that these "leave to print" speeches are to be used as life-savers in many congressional districts. As permission is granted to print speeches it is noticed that the stacks of mail going out of the house office building steadily increase. The people back home are being told what their congressmen are doing for them.

Congressman Emerson of Ohio has a hunch that German spies are "listening in" on important government business. He wants a rule adopted, to remain in force during the war, whereby no one can get into the galleries of the house chamber without a pass signed by a member. "I presume," he said, in a short speech advocating this restrictive rule, "there are spies sitting in the gallery every day this house is in session listening to get any and all the information they can." For the next 30 minutes or so the unfortunates who happened to be in the gallery at the time were busy looking out of eye-corners at one another.

It is not generally known, but it is a fact that the old feather beds which were a great deal more common half a century ago than at present are now being utilized in the war. A systematic canvass has been made of the country to secure all the old feather beds possible for the purpose of making pillows for the soldiers. Many women are engaged in this work. The feathers are taken to a place where they can be thoroughly renovated and cleaned in a manner satisfactory to the army surgeons, and then they are sewed up in the ordinary bed ticking by which the women can help in the great war.

The Dominican Republic will establish an agricultural experiment station that also will try to improve the live stock of that country.

Suffrage Vote Promised.

Washington, June 7.—A vote during the present session of Congress on the woman suffrage constitutional amendment was promised again by Senate leaders. Republican Leader Gallinger urged early disposition of the resolution and Senator Shafroth of Colorado, for the Senate majority, said it would be brought to a vote before Congress adjourns, but that friends of suffrage are delaying action because they lack two or three votes necessary to insure its adoption.

Look and Feel
Clean, Sweet and
Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folk who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have yellow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

EASY TO DARKEN
YOUR GRAY HAIR

You can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

NOT FOUND WANTING

At Cantigny, at the Marne, at Chateau Thierry, at all points the Americans have not been found wanting and the Prussian Guard has realized that the Yanks were glad to meet them more than half way.

"Prussia," said Napoleon, "was hatched out of a cannon ball."

America, on the other hand, never looked upon war as a business but as a means to assert its rights and defend its manhood when unjustly assailed. Thank the Lord the good old U. S. A. stands unshaken in this fight. Back of the army is all that the world holds good and true, honest and dear.

It's a fight to the finish. There will be but one result, victory for American arms, ideals, manhood, civilization. It will be a better world to live in when America gets through with its task.

BRAINERD AT WALKER

Brainerd this morning gained the honor of having the biggest delegation at the summer session of the Northern Minnesota Development Association at Walker. In a long line of cars Brainerd citizens entered Walker with pennants flying, all advertising Brainerd, the heart of Minnesota, and the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce drum corps rolling a fraternal greeting.

Every Walker visitor, and there were a thousand or more in Walker this morning became aware of Brainerd. It boosted the town all right.

GREAT ORATORS

No town in the state has had as many great orators in its confines as Brainerd. Within a short period citizens have heard Dr. Walters, Dr. C. W. Burns, John G. Woolley, and will hear Bishop Charles Bayard Mitchell, Daniel Lawler and others.

GUNS OF ODD MATERIAL

The Scotch used leather guns in 1640 to batter Lord Conway's fortifications at Newbourne. In a tomb on the Island of Chinal, near Usmacinta, Mexico, was found a cannon 4 feet 11 inches long, of terra cotta, with terra cotta bullets. It is suggested that when Cortez retired after his great fight at Souta, Tabasco, the natives copied the Spanish guns in clay, hoping to produce the same results. Artillery was first used in war by the Moors at Algebras, in Spain, in 1341. Cannon were first used by the English, by direction of the governor of Calais, in 1383.

GERMANS TURN
ATTACK NORTH

New Offensive Near Noyon Predicted as Foe Is Driven Back Across Aisne.

FRENCH HOLD POSITIONS

Teutons Foiled in Attempting to Straighten Line West of Soissons—Thirty Americans Rout 200 Germans.

London, June 7.—The Germans, checked in their efforts to batter their way through the American and French lines near the Marne, have turned their attention to the front further north in a region which may be considered as the connecting link between the battlefields of the Somme and Marne.

The French official report, in dealing with operations along the front, says that the French forces east of Campigny have continued to drive back bodies of German troops which had crossed the Oise.

French Hold Along Oise.

When the initial plunge along the Aisne had gained extensive ground, but the process had created a salient dangerous to the Germans to the west of Soissons, they attacked along the Allette river, northwest of that city, to straighten out their line and thus guard against a flanking operation by the Allied armies. They gained considerable territory in this maneuver but were held after they had progressed approximately five miles.

Since that time the French have held their positions with the Oise river forming a first line of defense and there has been little fighting of a significant nature in that sector.

New Offensive Suspected.

Military experts have expected an attack on the Allied line running east of Montdidier, past Noyon and thence along the Oise to the new lines formed since the German offensive on the Aisne began. It may be that the fighting reported in the French official statement marks the initial stages of an attack there.

Further south along the line running from the western suburbs of Soissons to Chateau Thierry, the line is standing firm before the German thrust. The French have succeeded in improving their positions north and west of Tautebraye, a little village on the right bank of the Aisne river north of the Aisne.

Germans Driven Back.

The French took more than 200 prisoners from the enemy in addition to inflicting heavy losses on the German units.

American troops around Vouilly, northwest of Chateau Thierry, repulsed strong German efforts to advance. The American machine gun fire broke up the German attack in confusion.

30 Americans Rout 200.

West of Montdidier and east of Luneville, American patrols have been active. An American party of 30 men penetrated the third German line east of Luneville and outfought a party of 200 Germans. Heavy losses were suffered by the foe.

IN ORDER TO REACH BERLIN

Yankies Are Being Trained Along Open Warfare Lines.

Washington, June 7.—American troops in training at home are being especially schooled now in preparation for the forward movement of the Allied armies, expected to follow the ultimate crushing of Germany's offensive power.

It was learned that orders have been issued to division commanders to lay greater stress upon training for open warfare, and reduce the time devoted to teaching trench specialties. The men are being hardened to long marches, given target practice without end and thoroughly trained to take care of themselves in the give and take of open combat.

FOOD SITUATION IMPROVES

Civilian Population of Great Britain Is Not Suffering.

London, June 7.—John R. Clynes, parliamentary secretary of the ministry of food, told the house of commons that no efforts of the German submarines, however severe, could menace the civil population of Great Britain. He said that 457,000 tons of bacon and ham recently had been imported from America.

Mr. Clynes said 100,000 additional acres of potatoes had been planted in Great Britain, while 120,000 acres had been planted in Ireland.

Two More Arrested at Arsenal.

St. Louis, June 7.—Two more arrests making a total of three, have been made at the request of members of the military board of inquiry that is seeking to place responsibility for $1,000,000 fire at the United States arsenal here. The two latest arrests are of men who had been employed in the arsenal, one a German, the other a native of Denmark. The man first arrested was caught as he attempted to vault the stockade at the arsenal shortly after the fire started.

CITY OF FILTH AND MISERY

Bagdad Has Fallen Far From Proud Position She Is Said to Have Occupied in the Past.

Bagdad is glorious only by reflection from the past. The houses of the present town are crude constructions of brick, mostly from ancient ruins and adobe; living is primitive; sanitation is non-existent; the streets or rather lanes, so narrow at times that one beast of burden fills the whole space from blank wall to blank wall, are sewers and rubbish heaps, and the reservoir for water supply is the Tigris river, which divides the city into two parts, just where all the filth of the city's lanes pours into it. In the business sections, the bazaars, the streets are roofed over with rude screens of palm logs covered with mats and reeds as a protection against the burning heat of the summer sun.

The houses are provided with serdabs, a sort of cellar, for household resort during daytime in the long summer months, and when there is no serdab, with mats of thorny shrubs to hang before the windows and keep drenched with water. At that season the whole town sleeps and eats on the roof, and the main middle floor of the house, is practically unused. The heat of summer is intense, and everything is constructed to alleviate its discomfort, consequently one suffers miserably during the brief rainy period from the cold and damp at home and abroad. The death rate is enormous.—Dr. John P. Peters in American Review of Reviews.

ALEUT YOUNGSTERS AT PLAY

Manage to Have Periods of "Fun," Much as Do the Children of More Favored Nations.

The Aleut boys and girls are very like boys and girls in the States, when you get under the furs and dirt and brown skins. They like fun as well as our children. One of them writes: "I was at Atka all last winter. I trapped two blue fox, which I am sending down to have sold for me. I also learned how to use a gun. Yesterday we went out with one of the teachers and I killed an eagle. The marshal gave me 70 cents for killing it because, he said, I was a girl."

Picking melons (large raspberries) is a favorite occupation. The bushes grow on the side of the mountain, and to pick the berries one must either sit down and dig his heels into the bank or lie down and hang on with one hand. In spite of cure the picker often takes an involuntary coast down the hill. Bogholes, pitfalls and mountain creeks add to the difficulties of the quest.

Clam digging is another change from home life that is welcomed by the children. They do this when, as one of the small boys said, "the tide is getting downer and downer." Salmon catching and curing is another help to the family larder.—Alice M. Guernsey in World Outlook.

Many-Sided Missionary.

A missionary in India gives some idea of the multiplicity of a missionary's duties. He tells us that he is: a minister of the Gospel, preaching whenever possible. A medical man with a large practice. A schoolmaster with 20 to 40 small schools under his supervision. A magistrate for the settlement of local disputes, the nearest government official being 30 miles away. A road contractor, being responsible for the upkeep and repair of 50 miles of public roads. A tree planter. (This and the last office are means of providing employment for the unemployed.) A builder, attending to the erection of his own churches and hospitals. A meteorologist, reaching and reporting the rainfall at the request of the government. A money-lender and the supervisor of a local agricultural bank. A literary man, translator and reviser. A courier, a seller of soap and tea, to raise money for missionary purposes.

Saul of Tarsus.

Saul of Tarsus, known as Paul after his conversion, referring to himself (II Cor. 10:11) says "this bodily presence is weak and his speech contemptible." Ernest Renan, the French writer, after consulting Jewish and Roman writings, says of him: "Paul was small in size, and his personal appearance did not correspond with the greatness of his soul. He was ugly, short, stout and stooping, and his broad shoulders awkwardly sustained a little bald head. His sallow countenance was half hidden in a thick beard; his nose was aquiline, his eyes piercing, and his eyebrows heavy and joined across his forehead. . . . His constitution was not healthy, though at the same time his endurance was proved by the way in which he supported an existence full of fatigues and sufferings."

Roger Bacon's Speculum.

The camera obscura, prototype of the photographic camera of today, is said to have been known to Roger Bacon—who lived in the thirteenth century. By some authorities he is even being credited with its invention, says James Thomson in Photo-Era.

The "Speculum" of Roger Bacon, however, may have been simply of the order of the "busy-bodies" commonly employed in some continental European countries, and not unknown in Philadelphia, where in old parts of the city they may be seen in use almost any day.

The "busy-body" is a mirror fastened outside of a window at such an angle as to reflect the view up the street.

SEEKING ORIGIN OF TRENCH FEVER

Sixty Men Volunteer as Subjects for Experimentation.

WAS UNKNOWN PRIOR TO WAR

While Disease Disables a Man for From Six to Eight Weeks, It Is Not Fatal—Little of Value Is Known of Ailment and Microscope Has Not Yet Detected the Organism Which Causes It.

A scientific investigation of "trench fever," the disease which is causing an alarming wastage of man power in the armies, is being conducted by the American Red Cross through medical officers of the American expeditionary force at a British base hospital.

Sixty enlisted men, all New Englanders, of the United States sanitary corps volunteered as subjects for experimentation. These men are serving in detachments either as hosts to normal or infected body insects or have received injections of blood taken from soldiers known to be suffering from trench fever.

Trench fever was unknown to the medical profession before the present war, and there is still little information of value in regard to it; the microscope has not yet detected the organism which causes it. But among the British troops at the front it is at the head of all the fevers and is second in the list of those which cause the greatest wastage. It has caused almost one-third of all the sickness in some of the armies in the field in northern France. One division alone during one year averaged 350 cases a month. Although it disables a soldier for from six to eight weeks, it is not fatal and it leaves no permanent disabilities. But the extended absence of the sufferer makes the disease alarmingly destructive of man power.

Call for Volunteers.

It was with the approval of General Pershing that a call for volunteers for experimentation was made. In transmitting the names of the sixty chosen the divisional chief surgeon wrote to the chief surgeon of the American expeditionary force: "It is a subject of some pride in this division that practically all of the men of the One Hundred and First, One Hundred and Second and One Hundred and Fourth field hospitals and the One Hundred and First, One Hundred and Second, One Hundred and Third and One Hundred and Fourth ambulance companies volunteered for this service."

In a memorandum sent to General Pershing last December the chief surgeon of the American expeditionary force said there was urgent need to determine the origin of the disease, and concluded: "The American Red Cross has set aside a sum for research work for determining the cause of these diseases which are producing the greatest wastage in our armies. As trench fever is one of the greatest sources of wastage, this subject is to be taken up first, and the medical department of the army and American Red Cross have been requested to assist the British in these researches."

Trench fever became recognized as a distinct, specific infection during the latter part of 1915 and 1916. While the first cases disabled the patients for only a brief period, the time a soldier is kept away from his command has materially increased in the development of the disease, owing to the many relapses which occur in the majority of cases. In France the fever has occurred particularly in those who have been in the trenches or have cared for the sick in the hospitals.

In Two Types.

The fever appears generally in one of two types, either as a short, evanescent fever lasting for a few days or a week, and frequently followed after a few days by a single short relapse, or as an affection in which there is a series of relapses. The onset of the fever is sudden, as a rule, and marked by headaches, dizziness, pains in the back and particularly in the legs and a sharp rise in temperature, usually to 102 or 103 degrees. Pain in the shins is a common complaint by patients and is often very distressing. The pulse is usually in the neighborhood of 100. The heart is normal in the early stages of the disease, but disordered action is very common later in severe cases. Medical experts of the British army have demonstrated that it is infectious.

As the incubation period of the disease has been known to extend to 22 days, it is not possible at present to announce more than the inauguration of this work.

TWO LIVE ON $12 A MONTH

Came to Husband, Civil War Veteran, in Form of Pension.

W. J. Daniel city humane officer of Muncie, Ind., in his rounds recently discovered an aged man and wife, the former eighty-five years old and the latter seventy-eight, who are living on an income of $12 a month, which comes to them in the form of a pension. Out of this sum they must pay rent. The man is a veteran of the Civil war. The two said that until prices of necessities became so high they managed to get along fairly well, but that now they have much difficulty in existing. The humane officer saw to it that they were provided with coal and proper clothing and food. They have no near relatives.

"Swat the Rat!"

Since the introduction of the house rat in the United States they have become extremely abundant and widely distributed throughout the country, where they destroy annually many millions of dollars' worth of food products and crops. These losses occur alike in cities, villages and farmsteads. Their inroads upon food products occur in freight departments of railroads and steamboat lines, storage places of grain and food dealers, commission houses, wholesale drug houses, candy shops, bakeries, flour mills, cold-storage houses, city and country dwellings, granaries, fields and poultry yards. The loss of food and other products in the United States from this source amounts to not less than $200,000,000 annually, which amount does not include indirect losses occasioned by human disease disseminated by rats and the necessary expenditures in combating them.

Do Something Better Than the Other Fellow--- and ADVERTISE

Advertising cannot accomplish the impossible any more than barren ground can yield rich crop.

But how advertising does make things hum when the product and proposition are right, the men and methods above board, when there's an honest purpose and earnest effort from bundle boy to general manager to serve efficiency, to deal honestly, to sell good goods, to price fairly.

Oil up the machinery of your business, imbue your organization with the spirit of true service, make your business worthy of the good will, the confidence, the patronage of the people.

In this fertile field then sow the seed of advertising and it will bring forth abundant crops in increased business and augmented prestige.

Your store news in the Dispatch will be read in practically every home in Brainerd and vicinity every evening.

PLEDGE SYSTEM MEETS QUOTA

War Savings Stamps Drive in Crow Wing County in Charge of H. F. Michael of Brainerd

DRIVE IN CITY STARTS MONDAY

County's Quota is $357,000—Just as Important as a Liberty Loan Campaign

The necessity of the War Saving Stamp drive becomes evident when it is known that the entire sales in Crow Wing county for the last six months have amounted to but $26,000 when the county is allotted $357,000.

Other states have tried the pledge system and have met their quota.

One county in this state did not send out solicitors in the drive but merely sent a letter to those who subscribed to the Liberty Loan and asked them that they were expected to duplicate that amount in the purchase of W. S. S.

The committee in Crow Wing county is not so presumptuous as this and will call upon every one in the county soliciting them just as they solicited for the Liberty Loan.

Those solicited should remember that if the quota is reached, that their subscriptions must be nearly as large as for the Liberty Loan. Of the $663,000 subscribed for the Liberty Loan approximately $260,000 were in large amounts from mining companies and other interests enabled to subscribe largely who cannot be depended upon to subscribe this time.

This loan is so good—so much better than any other—that the government restricts the amount to be purchased by any one individual to $1,000.

The drive in the city will not begin until Monday. W. L. Taylor who has charge of the Brainerd district, wishes a more thorough preparation and deferred the beginning until Monday.

THREE FIRES THURSDAY

Chimney and Furnace Slight Losses, McNaughton Launch Burned Near Midnight

The fire department responded to three calls Thursday.

At 1 P. M. they answered a chimney fire call at North Ninth street. Later the D. M. Clark Co. furnace smoked.

At 11 P. M. there was a call to the McNaughton blacksmith shop now operated by O. R. Law. Fred McNaughton was doing some work on a launch at the rear of the shop and in some way the gasoline ignited and the rear room was in flames. Mr. McNaughton was unable to find a place to telephone from and ran down to the fire station. He was back again and threw on some water. The launch was ruined, entailing a loss of $200 or more. Roof and walls of the room were burned and charred. The blacksmith shop is now owned by James Brady.

"THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME"—IT IS YOUR HOME.

The house saves rent. Spacious gardens save food bills. Chickens and rabbits furnish eggs, meat and much fun for the kiddies. Desirable as these are, the increase of your standing in the community and pride of ownership overtops them all. We adjust price and terms to one's ability to pay. You can pay the agreed price with your rent money, plus interest, taxes and insurance or more at will. In case of sickness or lay-off payments will be extended.

FINE LARGE LIBERTY LOTS

—Some with trees for fuel, will be sold together with building materials to enclose a small house, for $15 to $25 monthly. You can earn overtime pay by working for your self improving your own home and grounds. You accumulate real value instead of a lot of rent receipts, a bushel of which would not buy a corn plaster. Inquiries solicited.

GIVEN THANKS

State Director E. W. Randall of Red Cross War Fund Campaign, Thanks D. D. Schrader

D. D. Schrader, manager of the second Red Cross War Fund campaign, has received a letter from E. W. Randall, state director, thanking him for the fine showing made by Crow Wing county. The total money raised was $21,747.81. The county's quota was $15,000.

Mr. Randall wrote: "The people of Minnesota, as well as of the country at large, made a most generous response during the Second Red Cross War Fund Campaign."

"Your county has had an important part in the work accomplished. I desire to thank you for your efficient effort, and to congratulate you and your good people upon the splendid results achieved."

TO HOLD BIBLE CONFERENCE

Dr. W. B. Riley and Dr. E. V. Pierce to Lecture at First Methodist Church June 10-13

BIBLE PROPHECY THE THEME

Dr. Riley a Great Exponent of the Pre-Millennial Doctrine in the United States

Plans for the Riley-Pierce Bible conference have been perfected and the religious public is now awaiting with interest this event, which is commended by the Ministerial association as one of the greatest privileges offered to Brainerd and vicinity for many years.

"This is true for two reasons," said the chairman of the committee on arrangements to the Dispatch today. "First, the themes which Dr. W. B. Riley and Dr. E. V. Pierce will discuss are exceptionally timely. Prophecy is of engrossing interest at any time, and the more so now that the world is torn with strife and beclouded with uncertainty."

"What we find in the Bible we can be sure of. These speakers are going to point us to the prophecies as the source of wisdom. Statesmen are about at their limit, but the prophecies cover all that men do not know about the future."

"And second, Dr. Riley, who is well known here from most acceptable work done in Brainerd some years ago, has become one of the greatest exponents of the pre-millennial doctrine in the United States. He is a forceful speaker, exceedingly popular with the masses, and stands firm for his convictions. No one who has the least interest in the great subjects he handles can afford to miss these addresses."

"Dr. Pierce is also one of the ablest speakers in his denomination."

The program which follows gives the subjects in full, all taking place at the First Methodist church:

Prefer Musical Education.

Music, more than the other arts, is a thing apart, and the instinctive knowledge of it, discovered sometimes in even the youngest children where a rich musical experience is offered, is just as computation by the educational mind. The jealous tutorial mind which presumes to teach music to the young without allowing and insuring them a rich experience of music, and to delay by the penurious educational method, however well meaning, the child's or youth's contact with musical life, is as little thrifty as one who would dam up the springs of a river to construct a meager drain pipe.—Exchange.

MURLOWSKI AT TRAINING CAMP

Private Frank L. Murlowski at Fort Rosencrans, Cal., Misses Mother's Pie

OTHERWISE THE FOOD IS GOOD

Writes Entertainingly of Big Guns, Aeroplanes, Hydroplanes—Soon to Go Over There

Fort Rosencrans, Cal., Sat., June 1, 1918.

Dear Sirs:— Just came across a paper this morning which sure looks good out here. It was the Brainerd Daily Dispatch of May 24th. A letter from home or the home paper are a man in uniform's happiest moments when he receives them. I was in the Coast Artillery here but have been transferred into an ammunition train. I am in the First Co., Co. A., 54th Ammunition Train, Fort Rosencrans, Cal. Our camp is on the top of a mountain six miles across the bay from San Diego and three-quarters of one mile east of the Pacific.

We may receive our orders to go over at any time now. I sure will be glad when we can go. The boys are in the highest of spirits out here. Most of us are young although many of the "boys" are between 35 and 40. Some of them have been in the regular army for eight years or more and are itching to go. We are under strict orders not to write of the dates of any departures or points of embarkation of any of the companies. I sure feel 50 per cent stronger and healthier than when a boilermaker in civil life. I haven't had a set of "hickups" to drive for a quite a while. We get real eats out here. The only thing I miss is mother's home made pie. We get plenty of exercise, climbing up and down this mountain every day. We used to drill on the large rifles and 12 inch mortars but have discontinued same since we transferred. Saw my first large gun fired last week when all of the disappearing rifles were fired for the first time since I came here. It is a great sight to see these monster coast defense guns of ours stick their muzzle over the battery wall and fire and then watch the double splash miles away in the ocean.

There are some pretty scenes out here and San Diego is a beautiful place. We perhaps have one of the smallest training camps in the country here, there being only four companies. Of course there are other companies here as this is an old regular army post, but ours is by itself. Comment has often been made of the cleanliness of our camp. We have not had a single death here and only one or two cases of real sickness such as pneumonia. Camp Kearney, with over 40,000 men, is only about 12 miles away and also the naval training station with thousands of men is at Balboa Park near here. As I am writing this I can look out of the door of my tent across the great aviation field at North Island. It is a common sight to see 15 or 20 aeroplanes and two or three hydroplanes flying over our heads daily.

Well as this is getting rather long I will close, wishing the old town and the Dispatch success in all its ventures.

From one in the service, Priv. Frank L. Murlowski, Co. A., 54th Am. Train, C. A. C., Fort Rosencrans, Cal.

ADDRESS OF R. R. WISE

Northern Minnesota Development Association Convention, Walker June 7th, 1918

Mr. Mayor, citizens of Walker, Northern Minnesota boosters and friends:

The very cordial words of welcome extended by Mayor Wilcox only serve to impress more firmly upon my mind facts which are generally known throughout the state of Minnesota, namely: that Walker is one of the most hospitable towns within the borders of the Gopher state and that its citizens are imbued with that spirit which goes to make the entertainment of visitors a pleasure rather than a hardship. His words further emphasize the fact that in the selection of this town for the summer convention of the Northern Minnesota Development association, the executive committee acted wisely and well.

The fame of Walker as a good town to live in and peopled by men and women who throw their heart and soul into any undertaking is too well known to require any eulogiums on my part. I wish to state, however, that the cordial expressions of your mayor and the indications on every hand of the pains you have taken in planning the entertainment of this convention and our visitors are very much appreciated by myself and the N. M. D. A. and I feel certain that I speak for all who are within the sound of my voice.

I am impressed more and more with the wise decision made by the executive committee in making the summer convention of this organization an outing time as well as devoting it to a consideration of important problems which confront us. The old adage, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," rings true, and I feel that we can devote these two days to no better advantage than in mingling with our fellows and forgetting, for the present, some of the arduous cares of business life in the enjoyment of the splendid entertainment planned by the citizens of Walker.

The hand of the Master Painter has been most lavish in painting upon the canvas of Nature here a masterpiece of beauty and grandeur. It is to these natural environments and recreation opportunities that northern Minnesota is beckoning to the world at large, with an invitation to come and enjoy them with us and it is for the express purpose of emphasizing their attractiveness upon the minds of a public not so happily located as are we, that the Northern Minnesota Development associations turns its attention today.

It is a pleasure to me to know that we have with us men from other sections of the state and from other states who can appreciate these attractions and I note with satisfaction that we have with us representatives of the larger publications in the cities.

In the name of the Northern Minnesota Development association, I bid these visitors a most cordial welcome. I trust that your stay with us and the discussions which take place during this convention will afford you object lessons, to be taken home with you and that you will spread the good tidings among your neighbors. If we, as boosters of Northern Minnesota, only awaken to our opportunities along this line, the results will be such as to place us among the very first states in the union as a Mecca for tourists from every section of the United States. At the fall meeting in November at Grand Rapids the discussion of subjects relating to intensified husbandry will occupy the center of the stage. We have already demonstrated the possibilities, open to the world, afforded in this state and our settlers, year by year are increasing in numbers. I do not hesitate to forecast that in the immediate years to come a large percentage of uncultivated lands in this section of the state will be made to "blossom as a rose" and that thousands of homes will spring up like magic, upon virgin soil only awaiting the hand of intelligent cultivation.

The word "Development" means the expansion and the utilizing of natural assets afforded a community of the personal abilities of an individual. When we think of the N. M. D. A. and its mission of usefulness we first consider what the association has to develop. To the mind more particularly interested in husbandry, thousands of acres of soil, woodland and prairie come to mind. We have devoted our efforts in the past largely to the development and cultivation of our virgin acres and to securing settlers for a land, second to none on God's green footstool. But we have another most valuable asset, which, to my mind is not fully appreciated and it is this asset we are here today to bring to the immediate attention of the touring public. I refer to the numerous beautiful lakes, excellent fishing, and summer outing opportunities afforded in Northern Minnesota. We have so long enjoyed these natural advantages ourselves that we do not appreciate them as do others.

The immortal Bobby Burns said, "Oh! wad the gift the Gods would gie us, to see ourselves as others see us." And a more pertinent expression was never voiced by human lips. It relates particularly to Northern Minnesota, the Mecca of the tourist.

In other states, not blessed as are we with thousands of lakes, beautiful scenery and everything that goes to make life in the open worth while, the people travel for miles to seek out some mere pond of water, classified by courtesy as a lake, where they may fish for bull pouts, sun fish, and under-sized perch with indifferent success. But we, of Northern Minnesota, have but to step outside our back doorway, cast our line into the limpid waters of a beautiful lake or stream and be rewarded with a pike, bass or croppie. Trips to these beautiful lakes are made by thousands every summer over some of the best highways in the state of Minnesota. The route is marked by sylvan dell and native forests, the banks are easily approached and their shore lines made up of white sand and pebbly beach.

I ask of you, are not such environments, such natural attractions an asset and are they not more worthy of exploitation than a happy, easy going citizenship has thus far devoted to them? I say they are and this organization, in my opinion, owes more definite attention to the tourist attractions this section of the state offers than it has ever devoted in the past.

The future of Minnesota depends upon the co-operation of its men and women in those things which tend for the common weal. The future, once this war is over, will be marked by grave responsibilities for the reconstruction period, sure to come, will require the exercise of judgment, foresight and unselfish devotion. At present, every energy is being bent to prove up to our title, "The bread basket of the world" and nobly has been the response. We must keep right on in this work, with hearts and hands 100% loyal to Old Glory and the grave-faced man in the White House whose cares none of us can even imagine and whose responsibilities are such as to cause us to pause and marvel at the able manner in which they are being met. And men and women, Minnesota will do it and this section of the state will never be found wanting; the N. M. D. A., I feel certain, will bend every energy in support of the Nation and in the development of this section of the state to such advantage that our names may be boldly written on the honor roll, also with those of the men and women of other organizations calculated to promote the common interests and to serve, first, last and all time, the Flag and Nation under which we have the glorious privilege of living.

OUTLINES DRAFT OF REVENUE BILL

Secretary McAdoo Wants Measure Drawn to Raise Eight Billion Dollars.

TAX ON WAR PROFITS

Treasury Official Also Recommends Normal Income Tax on Unearned Incomes Be Raised and That Luxuries Be Heavily Taxed.

Washington, June 7.—In a letter to Chairman Kitchin of the House way, and means committee, Secretary McAdoo recommended that the new revenue measure be framed to raise $8,000,000,000 by taxation, one-third of the estimated $24,000,000,000 expenditures in the fiscal year 1919.

He also recommended that a war profits tax be established at high rate to be superimposed upon existing excess profits taxes; that the normal income tax on unearned incomes be raised and that heavy taxation be imposed in luxuries.

The suggestions were given in response to a letter from Mr. Kitchin and constituted an outline of the treasury's ideas, not only of taxation to meet the nation's huge war expenses in the future, but of preparing the way for floating of additional billions of Liberty bonds. Increasing the rate of normal taxes on incomes from which Liberty bonds are exempt, said the secretary, will tend to make these bonds better investments.

Mr. McAdoo made no attempt to specify the means of carrying out his suggestions and did not intimate what articles might be classed as "luxuries" for heavier taxation.

After explaining that his estimate of $24,000,000,000 expenditures in the fiscal year starting next July 1, is based on expenditures in the past and a calculation of the rate of increase Mr. McAdoo said it would constitute unsound financial policy to raise $20,000,000,000 of that sum by flotation of Liberty loans, to make up the deficit that would follow, if there were no increase in the $4,000,000,000 revenue obtainable under existing law.

About one-third of the $12,500,000,000 or $13,000,000,000 expenditures this fiscal year, ending June 30, will come from taxation and this ratio, he suggested, should not be reduced.

STEEL SUPPLY IS CUT OFF

Concerns Not Producing for War Purposes Are Affected.

Washington, June 7.—Non-essential industries were cut off from steel and iron by action of the War Industries board, in agreement with the American Iron and Steel Institute.

The order is effective at once. No manufacturer, not producing for war, will be permitted to have iron or steel unless every war requirement has been satisfied and the director of steel supply reports that the United States and Allies will require all the steel that can be produced this year.

Expansion of the iron and steel industry of the country is to be brought about systematically to take care of the increasing war needs.

WOMAN DESCRIBES LOSSES

Twenty-five Relatives in German Army Have Been Killed.

Berne, June 7.—As bearing upon the war losses of some German families, a statement made by a German woman now in Berne is interesting.

"Twenty-five of my relatives have been killed, five are invalids and only two are left unharmed out of 32 engaged in the war," said this woman, whose husband was killed on the German front at Arras. "My uncle," she continued, "sent seven sons into the war and six of them were killed within two months."

The losses of the Germans since the March offensive began have been terrific, she added.

ITALIAN FORCE IS READY

American General Finds Army in Fighting Trim.

Italian Army Headquarters, June 7.—The Italian army is improving, both in morale and material, according to Maj. Gen. Eben Swift, head of the American Military mission to Italy, who discussed various phases of the situation on the front, which is considered interesting in view of the possibility of an Austrian offensive.

"I have been studying the Italian soldier for about three months," he said, "and have found many things to admire."

Coast League to Use Autos.

San Francisco, June 7.—Automobile transportation will be used by the Pacific Coast baseball league beginning Sunday in transporting the teams between San Francisco and Los Angeles. It was announced here by Allan T. Baum, president of the League. The increased railroad and Pullman fares, effective June 10, made it imperative for the league to take this step, he said. The expenses of automobile transportation, he said, would be about the same as railroad fare under the present rates.

GETTING READY TO COUNT HIS PEOPLE

UNCLE SAM IS PREPARING FOR THE FOURTEENTH CENSUS, TO BE TAKEN IN 1920.

IT IS A TREMENDOUS JOB

No Longer Considered Much of a Political Asset to Party in Power—Kenyon's Severe Attack on Rivers and Harbors Bill.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington.—We are getting ready for the 14th census. In 1920, besides electing a president and vice president, the entire house of representatives, and 32 senators, we are going to count the people of the United States, also the people in our various possessions, which include Alaska, Porto Rico, the Canal Zone, Hawaii, the Philippines and Guam. And it may be that it will also include a large number of soldiers who will still be in France, or let us hope a long way into Germany, if they are to be abroad two years from now.

The taking of the census has become much more than simply counting the people. In addition to securing the exact population we now gather every ten years all kinds of statistics relating to production of all that can be of use in the way of information as to the growth and conditions of the country.

The time was when the taking of the census was considered quite an asset to the party in power if it was holding a presidential election that year. But it is doubtful whether that would turn the scale unless the election were unusually close. It is only once in 20 years that the census is taken in a presidential year. Certainly it had no effect the last time, back in 1900, and it is a fact that both in 1890 and 1910, census years, the Republican party in power suffered defeats in the congressional elections.

The rivers and harbors bill was under much heavier fire in the senate than it went through in the house. One senator alone, Kenyon of Iowa, gave the bill a more severe "bawling out" than it got during all the time it was under consideration in the house of representatives.

"This bill," asserted Senator Kenyon, "carries appropriations for such great national institutions as Fishing Creek, Contentia, Swift and Smith creeks, the Altamaha, the raging Little Pee Dee, the Great Pee Dee, the Kissimmee, the Caloosahatchee and the Withlacoochee, and all the other little coochee-coochees. I do not know why we have to keep on every year appropriating for these streams that haven't enough water in them to wash a newborn babe."

It looked pretty raw until Senator Fletcher of Florida, chairman of the committee of commerce, saved the situation by remarking that the entire appropriation for these raging torrents amounted to only $4,000.

The senate has an undeniable reputation for being "poky," but during the last few days it has been giving the lie to that reputation very thoroughly. Bills have been called up and passed with lightninglike speed and with very little debate or none at all. True enough, they are all what is known as "calendar bills," none of them of very great importance, but they could be made to take up a great deal more time if the senate had been in a talkative frame of mind, and some of them will cause or have caused lengthy wrangling in the house of representatives. The whole point is that when the senate is in the mood it can do some hurrying that would leave any other legislative body gasping and struggling like a fish out of water.

Congress responds with alacrity to every demand for soldiers and for army supplies which is asked by the administration. The only delay of any consequence in regard to furnishing troops for the army was when the president asked for the selective draft law. Men in the national legislature were then somewhat disturbed as to what the people of the country would think of conscription and the effect that it might have upon them politically. Besides, there was a very strong sentiment in favor of volunteers and a volunteer army. And it was also thought that men selected under a national draft to serve in the army would resent being called conscripts. But nothing happened to confirm the apprehensions and the country at large approved the conscription of men to fight for the nation, particularly when it was found that the draft was being exercised without regard to the position men held and that the rich man as well as the poor man was obliged to serve.

Ever since that time there has been nothing the administration wanted in the way of men or money to fight the war that congress has not granted. Also, nearly everything in the way of legislation, although separated from the war and dealing largely with governmental affairs has been granted by large votes, even if there was occasional strenuous opposition. Judging from the way congress is supporting the administration, it is evident that the country is practically united in fighting this war of international freedom.

MARINES STAGE STRONG ATTACK

Yankee Bluejackets Storm and Retain Strong Positions Held by Enemy.

FRENCH ALSO ADVANCE

Americans Are Now in Possession of All the High Ground Northwest of Chateau Thierry—Enemy Losses Are Heavy.

With American Army in Picardy, June 7.—A gain of more than two miles on a front of two and one-half miles was made by American marines, who attacked the Germans and captured 100 prisoners in the Chateau Thierry sector. The French, attacking at the same time on the left, took 160 prisoners.

The Americans now hold all the important high ground northwest of Chateau Thierry. They killed large numbers of the enemy, but their own casualties were very light.

The marines again attacked and the battle is still raging. Tides attack carried the Americans to the edge of the village of Torcy, into positions overlooking and commanding the railroad to the east.

The Americans have been pressing the Germans so hard that the enemy has been forced to throw three new divisions of his best troops in the line during the last three days.

The Americans are like tigers. Their commanders have all they can do to hold the men back. Even the wounded are enthusiastic and eager to fight. They are proud of their wounds.

Whistle "Yankee Doodle" Going Over. The Americans sang and whistled "Yankee Doodle," and cheered as they went over the top. They made their way swiftly through the German dead that lay strewn in No Man's Land.

German prisoners said they had not been fed for four days, owing to the deadly fire from the French and American guns, which prevented the bringing up of supplies.

These Germans were without helmets. They were tired of the war. They had been told that the British opposed them, as their commanders were afraid to let them know the Americans were opposite.

The Americans stormed the enemy positions through a terrific hail of machine gun fire, but pressing onward, they burst through the unconsolidated German defense, scattering the Germans before them like chaff and inflicting bloody losses with their rifles and automatic pistols.

German Gunners Routed. The Americans assaulting waves broke clear through the enemy's line, approaching within 400 yards of Krupp field gun positions. In two instances groups "infiltrated" right among the enemy gunners routing them and preventing them from serving their pieces.

The advance was most successful in mile center. As the French were going forward on both wings, they encountered concentrated machine gun fire which greatly hampered the assault.

The attack was aimed at obliterating a salient protruding into the Franco-American lines. The men went over the top without preliminary bombardment. As it was a surprise operation, artillery preparations were dispensed with. Owing to the comparative scarcity of artillery and also owing to the fact that neither side has consolidated its lines, there were no elaborate concrete trenches to knock out without high explosives.

Both sides had merely dug in and scattered along the battle zone, where there are little hollows and shell holes serving as miniature trenches.

DOMES TO BE CAMOUFLAGED

National Capitol Is Too Good a Target for Air Raid.

Washington, June 7.—The gilded dome of the Capitol is to be painted or covered with canvas so as to make it less conspicuous to possible air raiders. The state house commission decided on this after conferring with army and navy officials. The dome is gilded with twenty-three carat gold and in normal times is illuminated by nearly 500 electric lights. The lights, however, have not been turned for more than a year.

German Airmen Bomb Paris.

Paris, June 7.—German airplanes raided the Paris district through a heavy defensive barrage. Some bombs were dropped. One person is reported dead and several wounded. Material damage was done.

Plea Is Passively Received.

London, June 7.—The voluntary recruiting appeal by Viscount French, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, is neither applauded nor condemned by John Dillon, Nationalist leader, in an interview with the Daily Telegraph's correspondent in Dublin. "The government," Mr. Dillon is quoted as saying, "has certainly done one sensible thing in abandoning the attempt to enforce conscription in Ireland against the will of the people, which would have brought no strength to the Allied cause."

ONE MAN EXEMPT, ANOTHER MUST GO

MUST PASS ON MANY CASES

Crowder Says Government Will Exercise Its Power to Limit to Raise the Needed Millions—Taft's Praise of National Army Men.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington.—"Whenever any man gets out of military service it means that another man has to go in his place. Whenever a mother, wife, sister or sweetheart secures the exemption of a young man it means that some other mother, wife, sister or sweetheart has to make a sacrifice."

These were the words of Maj. Gen. Henry P. McCain, adjutant general of the army, in answer to an appeal made to him to secure the exemption of a young man in the military service. General McCain is one of the men who knows what military service means. He was in the first expedition that landed near Manila before the Spaniards surrendered the Philippines and was in the fight which resulted in the fall of Manila. Afterwards he was so near death as a result of fever that the doctors had given him up. In the present war he has a son in France who went with the first expedition.

The adjutant general and many other officers now at the head of bureau in Washington have been on the fighting line at one time or another and most of them have sons or other near relatives in the service in the present war, and consequently they can talk with feeling about the sacrifice everybody has got to make. Most of these officers also realize that it is man-power that must win, and from now on until the end the bulk of this man-power must come from the United States.

Probably no other officer in the army has as many cases come to him as the adjutant general. Requests are made all the way from high officers who desire transfer, down to the humblest of conscripts who would like to get out of the draft. Many of these cases are quite appealing.

"If we are to have anything like 5,000,000 men, or more, and more was indicated in the president's Red Cross speech, there will have to be a change of attitude on the part of the people of the country and it will be necessary to dip into several classes which have heretofore been exempt."

Such was the remark of Major General Crowder, provost marshal general, who added that the desire to escape military service was one of the most discouraging things that had come under his observation during the war. But he said that in order to secure the necessary men to carry on the war the government would exercise its power to the limit.

An impression had grown up that the new National army which was brought into service by the draft was not the best material for soldiers and also that the men in the various camps were far from contented and that they looked anything but happy in their new environment. This idea has been refuted in a statement by former President Taft, who says that the drafted men are the "finest army material in the world." He says that in drill and manual training and instruction they have begun to understand the government's purpose and are fitting themselves for their new duties. Mr. Taft said no army camps have ever been so free from drunkenness as those of the present National army, which is very natural, not only because the movement against liquors has progressed rapidly since former armies were mobilized, but there is also a very drastic federal law against selling liquor to men in uniform. President Taft called attention to the good work which the Y. M. C. A. is doing at the various camps, but he was not the original discoverer of the great benefit which this organization has been to the soldiers of the new National army. Every person who has visited any of the military camps is aware that one of the best agencies in connection with the camp is the Y. M. C. A.

It is quite probable that the services of Charles F. Hughes will be utilized by the government in other war activities after he has completed his investigation of the aircraft work of the government. It is not alone as an investigator that Mr. Hughes can be of great help; there are other big things to do which may require a man of his energy and intelligence. It is the determination of the government to use all men who are available and who can do a great deal to help carry on war work.

Cincinnati man tells how to lift off any corn without hurting one bit

You reckless men and woman who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts off with the fingers.

It is a sticky substance which dries the moment it is applied and is said to simply shrivel the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus. You are further warned that cutting at a corn is a suicidal habit.

A Correct Answer is the Only Battery Insurance

Guesses at battery condition open the switch for battery trouble. You're running without signals unless you know what's doing inside your battery.

Has enough water been added?

Is your battery properly charged?

Has too much charging caused overheating?

And don't forget to ask about the "Bone Dry" principle. The Still Better Willard is the only battery that uses it and thus gives you absolute assurance that your battery is as new as the day it left the factory.
